

Please Know I am With You

My time has come, my day is done, my life on earth as we know is no longer so, but

Please Know I am With You

I am with you in the breeze that flows through the trees, and sends movement to the tiny dancing leaves.

I am with you in the eyes of the stranger passing by,
a little twinkle you see that reminds you of me.

I am with you in the touch when you feel a brief rush, traveling through your skin that makes your heart smile within.

I am with you each day, the time passing away, helping you grow strong, just in a new way.

Please Know I am With You

Too quick to ask why, too easy to cry, too many answers safely guarded by the heavenly Father in the sky, but

Please Know I am With You

I am with you when you see pictures, fond memories of me, wrapping my presence warmly around you, a reminder to sit still and just be.

I am with you in the night, your heart pounding with fright, keeping you safe with a promise that one day we will unite.

I am with you today, tomorrow, and always, just not in the way you imagined. I am with you right now, our good Lord by my side, encouraging you to keep looking forward and living your life with passion.

Please Know I am With You

Look up to the sky, don't say goodbye, just breathe...and...

Please Know I am With You

